The Bedford, which left St. Louis for Cairo Thursday, sunk at Tower Island at 8 o'clock Friday evening, with 12,000 sacks wheat, to be reshipped by the Lourey line. The bellboat Salvor has gone to her. The Fannie Tatum is bringing her freight down. The Ste Genevieve did not arrive until 12:30 1 Monday night, but she was full allee samee. She had, besides numerous other stuff of the merchandise persuasion, about 300 barrels of flour and meal, which was discharged in time for her to leave on the return trip at 7 o'clock resterday morning. Captain Drake, of Pine Bluff, has con-racted with Ohio river builders for a stern-wheeler for the Arkansas river trade. She is be gunwale built, 145 feet long, thirty feet beam, and will trim on a foot of water. Though designed mainly as a carrier, she will Maybe New Orleans has some more mate-

"especially organized to get away with them Memphis fellers." All right, bring 'em along, but first learn 'em how to get out of the way of the balls when they find they can't hit 'em. Memphis don't propose to have her weekly mortuary report increased by inexperienced ball players. Whether we are to have additional bargeline companies working on the Mississippi next fall does not seem yet to be settled. The New York Banker and Broker says: "Mr. Gould is reported as saying that there was a good deal of talk about consolidating the barge lines of the Mississippi into an organi-zation hostile to his interests, but he was not going out of the business yet." St. Paul and Kansas City offer plenty of opportunity to extend the barge lines, which are now practi-cally limited to St. Louis.

The Cairo Bulletia, of Sunday, is authority for the statement that the steamer W. P. Halliday ran aground in the Mississippi river opposite Cairo Saturday evening. While aying there in the early part of the evening, and while the crew were at work on the forecastle with the derrick, the main spar of the derrick suddenly broke, letting the derrick and stage-planks down with a terrific crash, and scattering splinters and great chunks of timber among the men in a retkless manner, but fortunately without injuring any one.
